

0.1 Axiom of regularity

The axiom of regularity states that:

$$\forall x[x \neq \emptyset \rightarrow \exists y \in x(y \cap x) = \emptyset]$$

That is, for all non-empty sets, there is an element of the set which is disjoint from the set itself.

This means that no set can be a member of itself.