Contents

0.1 Projections

A projection is a linear map which if applied again returns the original result.

A projection can drop a dimension for example.