0.1 Matrix square roots

For a matrix M, the square root $M^{\frac{1}{2}}$ is A where $AA = M$.

This does not necessarily exist.

Square roots may not be unique.

Real matrices may have no real square root.